

STRIKE IS SETTLED

"The strike was settled this morning."

The above line on a telegraphic blank from Goldfield was handed to The Appeal this morning confirming the report of a settlement printed in The Appeal Monday afternoon.

The basis of settlement could not be learned before we went to press though we made every effort to find out how matters stood in Goldfield.

This strike has not been the serious matter that correspondents of some outside newspapers would have it appear. There was never great excitement about the matter. The Ta streets of Goldfield have been quiet at all times and over two-thirds of the miners employed on the lease did not quit work at all as the leasers preferred to pay the scale demanded to shutting down for one hour.

Most of the leasers have only a few days to run and as many of them are in the highest kind of high-grade ore, every day's delay from any cause means huge losses to them.

The telegram indicates that Goldfield will now resume its normal condition and that all the mines will reopen. But five are closed down and these can reopen at an hour's notice. Stocks stiffened a trifle on the good news and the market closed strong.

FIGHT PICTURES

"Absolute perfection." "The best ever taken." That is the way the Burns-O'Brien pictures are criticised by every one who sees them. When the white screen is made ready, every one leans forward with a worried look expecting good entertainment, yet fearing for blurs, defects, omissions at the most important time. Nothing of the kind occurs. Nothing goes wrong. The pictures flow from the reel like water gliding over a smooth current. No blurs, no breaks. Nothing left out. Every detail of the fight is there. No explanations or apologies are needed, and nobody has to announce at frequent intervals. These pictures are perfection in fullness, completeness and detail, and leave nothing to be desired. As portrayals of a great battle, and as landmarks in the progress of the photographic art, they are unparalleled. Popular prices will prevail, only 50 cents straight. No reserved seats. Ladies are cordially invited. Special reservations will be made for them.

Chas. Epstine who got tired of working for nothing and went to Goldfield, where he does no hard work and sells mining stock—and makes money, is spending the holidays with his family in this city.

C. H. Cowdry will go to Reno tonight and to Ramsey tomorrow. He has the largest store building in Ramsey, the post office and is doing very well thank you.

Things are doing in Como and a big consolidation of interests is being made in that district.

Hal Mighels will go to Bullfrog in a few days, on mining business, a commission from New York investors.

George Sanford, editor of our esteemed contemporary, has returned from San Francisco.

The Regan boys have invented a new one, and its a corker. All you have to do is to wink at Mr. Ramrod in a certain way and it is forth coming.

The Warrens will give the annual dance on New Year's Eve.

HOW ABOUT THIS?

Don't you feel better, now that Christmas is over?

The fact that you carried happiness to one or two or more, as your means allowed, should make you feel as if you have had a sort of mental dip in some heart and trouble cleansing bath and you sort of hate to get back into the rut again.

There is no need of it. Preserve the Christmas spirit the year round. It is easy if you only go about it right and you will be happier, make others happier and you will live longer and others live longer for your effort.

The grouch, not to say sour ball, not to say grumpy mut that tells you there is nothing to Christmas but foolishness and expense should be thrust into outer darkness—and kept there.

STATE MINING NOTES

An injunction has been granted by Judge Green restraining the McNamara Company from extracting further ore from that portion of the underground workings which is alleged to belong to the West End mining company.

Arrangements are now being perfected for an ample water supply for Fairview. A deep well will be sunk about three miles from town and there seems no doubt that an ample supply will be had.

The Nevada Smelting and Mining Corporation and purchased the Poo mine, many years ago operated by the Tybo Mines and Milling Company.

Fairview district is experiencing a boom in mining transfers, as several deals of much importance have been made there within the past week.

On the Golden Boulder at Fairview the main tunnel was driven 350 feet, and an upraise started for the purpose of furnishing air.

Fairview men also operating in Wonder report an oversubscription to the first allotment of stock of the Marie Wonder Company.

Active work is being advanced on the Goldyke Lode property at Goldyke. The principal work is on the 200-foot level where several rich veins have been cut. The big vein is 56 feet wide and carries general average value of $15 per ton and is free milling. This ore can be mined and milled for less than $5 per ton. A large hoisting plant is now on the way and when installed the main shaft will be driven to the 300 foot level.

The Nevada Smelters and Mining Corporation has recently purchased the old Tybo mine for $250,000. This mine has not been pumped out below the 200-ft level in twenty years. The ore carries a small gold percentage and high in silver and there is blocked out 300,000 tons of ore which will average more than $25 per ton. The Elly Tonopah road will run within four miles of the property.

Virginia City seems to feel a thrill of life along her feet, due to some preparatory work for a revival of operations on the good, old Comstock.

The Minden local is doing almost as much business as the main line, both freight and passenger traffic having increased greatly.

Jim Regan has been in the city for several days, returning to Mound House this morning.

Judge Bartine has a most able article on Nevada in the annual edition of the Desert News.

A number of new films have arrived for the Park Theatre.

Mose Bigeness and family have arrived from Topaz and will make their home in this city.

Hy Jones of Mottsville spent today in this city.

Ray Collins spent Christmas in this city with his relatives.

JEFF IS SUED FOR DEBT

Los Angeles, Cal., July 12, 1905.

On or before 12 months after date, and for value received, I promise to pay to Charles A. Stout and Charles J. Mider, or order, at Los Angeles, California, the sum of twenty-five hundred dollars with interest from date until paid, at the rate of one per cent per annum, payable semi-annually. If the interest not be so paid it shall become a part of the principal. Should default be made in the payment of any installment or interest when due then the whole sum of principal and interest shall become immediately due and payable at the option of the holders of the note. Principal and interest payable in gold coin of the United States.

JAMES J. JEFFRIES.

James J. Jeffries, world's champion prize-fighter, is going to be a defendant in an action of law. Monday suit was filed against him to recover $5000 together with interest at the rate of 1 per cent per annum, due on two promissory notes issued by him to Charles A. Stout and Charles J. Mider. While the notes have a Los Angeles date, yet in reality they were made and turned over in Reno at the time when Jeffries refereed the Hart-Boon fight in July, 1905—the time when the man who had met and defeated everything in the prize ring tried to buck the tiger and was conquered by the little ivory ball that rolls around the wheel.

The story of Jeffries' escapade in Reno is well known. He liked the wide-open games and spent his money freely on them, so freely that soon his exchequer was diminished to a mere nothing. But all eyes were centered upon him—he had been Jeffries the prize fighter, now he was Jeffries the plunger. So when his luck turned and his money was all gone with a reputation to uphold he wrote two notes, each for $2,500, giving every assurance that they would be paid.

The rest of his stay in Reno was characterized by that same reckless spending and disregard for money. He gambled until all was gone.

Many times since then efforts have been made to secure a arrest on the money, but Jeffries has refused to meet all demands. Now his creditors allege that the time for both notes is up and neither interest or principal has been paid. So they have filed their complaint, including a copy of the two notes issued and ask that the court award the full amount with interest and cost of suit.

Bob Logan says he went to sleep at the minstrel show last night. There is nothing much the matter with a man that can go to sleep at a night minstrel show.

Don't forget that the Park theatre will be open tonight, Thursday and Friday nights with a lot of new films.

Emmet Boyle went to Reno this morning, on business.

Governor Sparks came up this morning from the ranch.

Butler tax agent Nevin arrived on the morning train for a brief stay.

Phil McGrath and wife returned to Tonopah this morning.

Sec'y of State Douglass is at the Capitol for a brief stay.

Judge Murphy will hold court in Lyon County Thursday, sitting at Dayton.

Parmenter Kent, editor and proprietor of Gossip, is in this city.

The annual report of the Jim Butler Mining company, shows a healthy and satisfactory condition of the company's affairs.

NOW WHAT D'YE THINK

We feel sorry for—Never mind who. This is how it happened.

A certain young man in this city, desiring to please his innamorata, sent below for some cut flowers, a big box full.

The package was expected Tuesday morning and the young man had the girl dated for the minstrel show last night.

Earlier this month he sent out an order for some underwear. Tuesday morning both flowers and underwear came, and when notified of the arrival, forgetting everything but the bright eyes of the young lady, he sent his office boy for the flowers with instructions to carry them to the home of the fair one, after inserting a card which he gave the boy and which read, "Please wear these pajamas for my sake."

suffice it to say the fool boy got the wrong box, and two expensive suits at the opera house were ruined last night.

MURDERER CHANGES HORSES MANY TIMES

Sacred Daird of White Pine county, has returned from Blackhorse, having been unable to capture Fred Loper, the man who shot "Scotty" Williams the Blackhorse school teacher. On reaching the scene of the shooting Daird found at once took Loper's trail but found that the fugitive in his wild rush to get away from the clutches of the law, had changed horses three times in a span of forty miles. That would be at the rate of seven times in a hundred miles and would land him in Utah before the sheriff could hope to overtake him. Sheriff Laird accordingly went to Ely and began to work the telegraph wires to have the man apprehended. It is probable that Loper will be taken into custody in a few days, for it is believed that he has headed for his old haunts in Utah.—Independent.

THE WHITE PINE NEWS

The palm belongs to Heulder Hudsons so far.

His Christmas edition of the White Pine News is the best ever. One section of the 48 page edition is colored, with a colored cartoon on the front page picturing Ely's prominent operators in their favorite pastime of gathering up the shells from the copery shore. One section is printed on half tone paper and is filled with pictures of Ely and her mines. The other sections are just Ely, nothing but Ely—and copper—and hoost. We congratulate the White Pine News and envy Ely her prosperity just a little.

Ely's place continues to be the hang out for those that know a good mixed drink when they taste it.

Chris Yeager risks to remark that the decorations are not "German style" as stated in the Appeal Monday. He says they are American style as only Chris Yeager can say it, so that goes.

Abe Cobb is being bombarded by news clippings that boom his new Emporium branch at Pasadena, Cal., the natural home of the "tewrist." Abe sang his basket song to a sporty editor last fall and has been busy dodging the effects ever since.

State Engineer Thurtell came up from Reno this morning.

Prof. Krall is in this city on his regular trip.

F. W. Day received a wire from Goldfield this morning advising him of the death of Elliott Gash, well known here. Death was due presumably to pneumonia. The body will be taken to Macomb, Ill., for interment.

The infant daughter of Mrs. W. H. Carter, nee Epstine, died in San Francisco yesterday.

Mike Fay of Sheridan is in town today.

BRIEF PARAGRAPHS

Pursuant to an order of the U. S. Circuit court, fifty armed men are now watching the leases on the Mohawk, at Goldfield, to prevent high grading, in the name of the court.

The robbers who held up the Merchant's Hotel at Columbia have not yet been caught.

The robbers that are supposed to have taken a box containing $30,000 from a Wells Fargo truck at Reno have not yet been caught.

The robbers that charge the people of Nevada two rates for one service have not yet been caught.

The man that struck Billy Patterson has not yet been caught.

Lawyers for Jack Thompson, the gambler who shot the messenger boy in Goldfield will try and secure a new trial for Thompson, convicted of murder and sentenced to death.

Constance Crawley captured Tompkins Monday night when she opened the new theatre there in "The Tempting of the Sheriff." She will appear here New Year week.

The Reno Journal issued a Sunday paper that was simply great. It is the largest edition of a daily issue ever put forth in the history of journalism in this State and is valuable as reference. We wish the Journal a happy New Year.

The minstrel show was well attended last night and was a fine entertainment. The next attraction booked by Manager Meder is the Burns-O'Brien fight pictures, said to be the best ever taken.

Geo. Mills, Geo. Cowing, H. R. Mighels, C. F. Nichols—known as the Duluth Leasing company, have taken a lease on the wonderful Black Mule mine at Duluth.

The Governor issues his proclamation of election, declaring the officials elected for the next four years, and giving the total vote of each.

The strike of firemen on the S. P. effected only the Wadsworth branch where two men quit and tied up the road for five hours.

Monday was train wreck day. Two trains collided at Alameda, two collided near Palisade and one plunged over a cliff near San Jose. Plenty hurt, none killed.

The win last night filled the streets with mud. They were bad enough before.

State officers who go out of office this month are busy introducing their successors to their duties.

Roy Mighels left for Ramsey this morning, after Christmas dinner with his mother and family in this city.

Mail was very late again today, due to delay on the S. P.

T. B. Rickey is in this city for the holidays.

The merchants report better business for the holidays than for several seasons past. The streets looked like a city for a day or two.

Chas. Clark, discoverer of the bonanza claim at Ramsey is in the city for the holidays.

Million dollar companies are promoted while you wait in Nevada these days.

Prof. Howe spent Christmas at home. Miss Edith came home from Goldfield and will remain some time.

One of the meanest tricks a fellow can do is to send a girl couple of boxes of expensive confectionery and put no card in the package. What can a poor girl do but thank every body in sight, and give herself dead away.
